

Evidence of Teaching Excellence

As evidence of teaching excellence, I provide the average scores received on student evaluations on four selected topics across each semester of my teaching career. (Unfortunately, evaluations were not available for my summer teaching.) Scores ranged from 1 to 5, with 5 being the most positive evaluation. The Writing Program's handwritten evaluations usually had a higher response rate than the College's separate electronic evaluations, and I have calculated mean scores for the overall instructor rating. Complete student evaluations (handwritten and electronic), including student comments, can be found at my website: <http://matthewbaddorf.net/>
